The "Guide of Lincoln Cents Official Red Books" is an authoritative and comprehensive resource that delves into the fascinating world of Lincoln cents. With meticulously researched information, stunning photography, and expert guidance, this book offers an unparalleled exploration of these beloved coins.

History of Lincoln Cents

The first Lincoln cent was minted in 1909, replacing the Indian Head cent that had been in circulation since 1859. The design was created by sculptor Victor D. Brenner and features a portrait of President Abraham Lincoln on the obverse (heads) and the Lincoln Memorial on the reverse (tails).

Throughout the years, Lincoln cents have undergone several design changes, including the addition of the mint mark and the removal of the Latin motto "E Pluribus Unum" in 1959. These changes have added to the collectability and historical value of Lincoln cents.
