A Woman of Strength and Determination

Leah Choice was a true pioneer woman, a woman of strength and determination who helped to shape the history of Pleasant Valley. She was born in 1835 in Tennessee, and she came to Pleasant Valley with her family when she was just a young girl. The family settled in a small log cabin, and they worked hard to clear the land and build a new life.

Leah was a hard worker, and she was always willing to help out her family and neighbors. She was also a skilled seamstress, and she made clothing for her family and friends. In 1855, she married John Choice, and they had six children together.

The Choice family was a close-knit family, and they were always there for each other. They worked together to build a successful farm, and they raised their children in a loving and supportive home. Leah was a devoted wife and mother, and she was always there to support her family.

A Legacy of Courage and Perseverance

Leah Choice was a pioneer woman, a woman of strength and courage. She helped to shape the history of Pleasant Valley, and her legacy lives on today. She was a role model for her family and friends, and she showed them what it means to be a strong and independent woman.

Leah Choice's story is an inspiring story, a story of courage and perseverance. It is a story that will stay with you long after you have finished reading it.
